What happened to the lakeadmin.org Bulletin?!!!

The reason for no Bulletin issues since last May was NOT for lack of enthusiasm. What did happen was that it has been an extremely busy summer. I'm not complaining, it's good to be busy. Unfortunately I have not created as many new posts as I wanted to. I did publish one post in October "Lake Property Owner Event Administration". The processes described have been proven successful in several campaigns this last summer. Check it out:

Lake Property Owner Event Administration

Lake property owners continue to be confronted with adverse environmental challenges, regulatory constraints and rising real estate taxes caused by inflated property valuations. They seek opportunities for education on the issues and collaboration with others in the lake community. Events structured to bring lake stakeholders together are vital to foster better understanding and more efficient coordination to address issues. Opportunities greatly reducing the complexity and expense of administering quality events are now available to those having only moderate resources and technical aptitudes.
